

1997

I remember these events as happening together and think that it was seeing the Pride march that helped me feel confident enough to go forward and end up speaking from the top of a bicycle at Speakers Corner.

1998

Gay disabled and proud: I'd only missed one Gay Pride since I was born, but Pride in 1998 was significant for me because this was the first Pride where I had decided I was gay. It felt like magic.
